

Attracting Tomorrow

Electronic components are found in nearly all electrical and electronic devices and are indispensable for their proper function. TDK is a leading manufacturer of these key products.

For our Process Innovation Center in Deutschlandsberg we are looking for an

R&D Engineer - Agile Coach (m/f/d)

Your duties

- Support R&D teams in the adoption of different agile frameworks / methods within the organization and across all business groups
- Coaching and support for cross-functional teams with regard to agile values, processes and collaboration to establish a self-contained and interdisciplinary organization
- Develop and roll out the operating model for agile transformation and reinforce the agile mindset
- Identify opportunities for improvement, including feedback mechanism to support coaching and enabling continuous learning
- Host workshops and trainings at our international development and production facilities

Your profile

- Degree in/or previous work experience related to science, technology, engineering or mathematics
- Minimum 2 years of work experience in hardware development (product and/or manufacturing processes)
- Interest in learning agile methods and shaping innovation topics
- Affinity for being a trainer or workshop moderator
- Qualifications in Lean or Six Sigma beneficial
- Outstanding communication and interpersonal skills with a demonstrated ability to connect with people
- Fluent in business English

Salary: starting from € 3,600 gross per month with the capacity for an increased salary depending on your experience, skill and competence

Our benefits

We want to get to know you!

TDK Electronics GmbH & Co OG

Human Resources

Mag. Eva Höfler • Siemensstraße 43

8530 Deutschlandsberg

job.db@tdk-electronics.tdk.com

www.tdk-electronics.tdk.com

